On 16th March 2024, the Department of Library and Information Sciences organized an event in honour of World Consumer Rights Day, traditionally observed on 15th March each year. The purpose of the event was to educate students and staff about consumer rights, focusing on safety, information, choice, redressal, and education. This day serves as an opportunity to advocate for the respect and protection of consumer rights, as well as to protest market abuses and social injustices that undermine these rights.

Mrs. S. Nazima Kausar, a Member of the District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission in Kurnool, was invited to speak at the event. She provided valuable insights on consumer rights, emphasizing the importance of consumer protection acts in ensuring fair and ethical market practices that benefit both businesses and consumers. It is crucial for consumers to have access to accurate and unbiased information about products and services to make informed decisions and avoid exploitation by businesses.

The event also featured addresses by Dr. C. V. Satyanarayana, Vice Principal, and Ms. Y. Showrilu, Dean Administration. The Library Committee Members and Library student volunteers actively participated in raising awareness among students about the significance of World Consumer Rights Day.

Overall, the event was a success in promoting understanding and awareness of consumer rights among the academic community.

Outcomes:

- Students were empowered with the knowledge of consumer rights and increased consumer education.
- Enhanced understanding and implementation of ethical AI practices.
